My dear Parishioners,

Dr. Seuss (the late Theodor Geisel), creator of the popular The Cat in the Hat and other books, wrote his first children's book in 1937. His writing career might have ended early had he not shown great determination. The book was rejected 27 times before finally being published.

Rejection is hard to take. Many of us remember the heartbreak of being rejected by a first love, but this is a part of life. The pain of rejection was the same for Jesus in today's Gospel. The people of Jesus' hometown threw him out. He couldn't go back again, so he walked away from them. He disappeared into the dark night and walked alone toward the sunrise of a new and terrible day.

Jesus is in the long line of prophets who are called to proclaim God's word. Such a call and commitment demand a focus on God's word and message and not on how people will receive it. Consequently, following Jesus will bring about misunderstanding and rejection. A disciple is one who keeps eyes fixed on the Lord, trusting in God's care and support no matter what happens.

Sincerely,

Father Ed
