My dear Parishioners,

Today, the next to the last Sunday of the Church year (Christ the King), our readings serve to prepare us for the Lord's coming. Next week's readings will be filled with glory of the son of God and the celebration of the fullness of the Kingdom. Today, however, our readings offer a warning that life until then remains difficult, and that when the Lord comes, before there is joy, there will be a reckoning "when all the proud and evildoers will be stubble, and the day that is coming will set them on fire." What we are challenged to do today is to turn our finger toward ourselves and ask truthfully, "Am I ready?" And, before we allow ourselves to take comfort in thinking the end of time is far off, we are called to acknowledge that our personal time in this world is limited. We get ready for retirement by saving and making adequate plans. How are we preparing for "the Day of the Lord," the day we will see Jesus Christ face to face?

I remind you that next weekend Tucker Brown from St. Charles Borromeo Seminary will speak to us during Mass. During the month of November we take up the annual seminary collection. You should have received a direct mailing from the seminary for this annual appeal, and may use the enclosed envelope to send your contribution directly to the seminary. For those of you who didn't receive this mailing from the seminary, or misplaced it, there are extra envelopes available in the back of the church. I thank you for your generosity that ensures the future of our great seminary.

Sincerely,

Father Ed
